

A Would-be Leader

Murphy, the Communist agitator, masquerading as an organizer, drifted into town last week just the same as any other wandering "vag." stuck up some hand-written posters calling a meeting for Friday evening, and proceeded to do his best to earn a meal ticket. On Friday evening he harangued a crowd on the street corner, abusing all and sundry, collected about five dollars in small change, and departed.

Just size up this individual. Nobody knows where he came from, what trade he worked at, whether he has ever been a member of a labor union, or who employs him. He has never uttered a word of inspiration or given a constructive idea or suggestion on unemployment, simply told men in the mining towns what fine conditions exist in Soviet Russia. He has abused labor leaders, men who are worth more as citizens and who have done more for labor than Murphy or any like him can ever do.

When a tramp like this comes and abuses men like Gillespie, Hayson, Lees and others who have been in this community for twenty years or more, men who have established a reputation as loyal citizens, it is time that a renegade such as this is shown up publicly for what he is worth. How can men with any sense of stability take heed to the miserable whinnings of an irresponsible blatherer such as he who would wreck everything and has nothing to build in its place?

If Murphy indulges in abuse, he will get the same dose handed back in full measure. Degading it may be, but in dealing with creatures of this type, one cannot handle them except in the same manner as they attempt to handle others.

Climbed Crow in Record Time

A party of young men left town at 7:30 a.m. on Tuesday, riding in a truck kindly loaned by J. M. Allan as far as the sheep camp, and reached the summit by noon, from where they heard the mine whistles sounding the noon hour. On the return trip they reached the sheep camp at 4 p.m.

Included in the party were Wyndham Jones, Leslie Griffiths, Jack Jackson, Jack Price, Bob Wilson and Matt Burrell, the latter three making their second ascent. They state that they were quite cold wind currents, and very few flying ants. The party which ascended last week suffered from the heat and flying ants.

The party of Colemanites who spent a week at North Fork fishing and camping returned last Thursday evening, delighted with their experiences, and with high praise for the natural beauties of that spot in the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Greenhalgh and family, and Granville Greenhalgh, returned last week from a very enjoyable auto trip through Yellowstone Park to Salt Lake City.

Visiting Old Pals

Harry Bannerman of Boston surprised old friends and acquaintances of 20 years ago in Coleman by dropping around and visiting them on Sunday and Monday. He worked first in the International mine here, then took up barbering under Frank Graham, and later moved to Boston, where he has lived since, having a good position in a large establishment there. Bill Hogan, Scott Campbell, W. Milly, B. McKay, Frank Graham and other old friends were hunted up by Harry, who was as delighted to see him as he to meet them. He played hockey on the intermediate team in the early days, and still retains his youthful attitude and outlook on life, though he is 42 years of age now. He hardly had an idle moment in Coleman, so eager was he to spend as much time as possible talking over the old days with those whom he knew then.

Boy Scouts in Camp

Coleman Boy Scouts are camping this week at Waterton Lakes Park, in charge of Harold Turner, assistant Scout master. They went down on Saturday, the truck of the International Coal & Coke Co. being kindly loaned to convey the Scouts and their equipment. They have pitched camp in the vicinity of Cameron Falls, close to the creek, in a sheltered spot, and have a daily program of hikes and instruction mapped out. The Scoutmaster is Lorenzo Richards, Wilfred Hoyle, Dennis Cady, Vincent Jnostak, Robert Borden, James Gardiner, Harold Nelson and Johnny James.

Hospital Notes

The matron and staff, also the patients, wish to thank Mr. G. Pattinson for chocolates, also Mr. Sam Moores for chocolates and cigarettes.

The hospital board received a letter from a patient expressing thanks to the doctors and staff, stating "it must be a great comfort to anyone having to attend as a patient, to know they will be under the care of such a capable staff."

Archie McCulloch left some very nice trout for the patients and staff, which were highly appreciated.

Three of the four who were granted first class papers in the recent mining examinations for the province were candidates from Coleman, being L. Lindoe, James Kellock and W. Hibbert. These gentlemen are to be congratulated on their success.

Several young people from town went to Waterton Lakes Park on Saturday evening for the dance, and remained over till Sunday.

Holidays on Horseback in West

Year by year the idea of Dude Ranching as a holiday recreation that really means re-creation, is taking greater hold on young and old alike all over the continent. Horseback riding, trail riding, taking part in rodeos—if you are a good enough cowboy—but anyhow on horseback from morning to night, that is the way to harden the muscles and bodies of people who have gone soft in the enervating life of cities. This totally different kind of a holiday is offered in any of half a dozen Dude Ranches in the Alberta foothills and the Rockies. There is the historic Kananaskis Ranch, owned by Mrs. "Bill" Brewster; the T. S. Ranch, operated by Guy Wendick; the Lake Windermere Girls Camp and the E. Y. Ranch, recently opened by Miss Emily Yates of Montreal, to name a few. The holiday-maker attires him or herself in weird and wonderful cowboy outfit from high-heeled boots and chaps to ten-gallon hat and tries out everything—roping and tying calves, packing mules and ponies and learning all the mystery of the ancient craft of knot-tying, riding the mountain trails and sleeping out o' nights—just a real western open-air holiday. Layout shows typical scenes from the Kananaskis Ranch.—Society huds hog-tying a calf; a party of riders all set for a day's outing and a glimpse of T. S. Ranch, operated by Guy Wendick; the Lake

The only way to eliminate the nuisance of cows wandering in the townsite during the night is to either take the bell off or corral the cow till the owner appears. There is a law against allowing cows to roam in the townsite, and owners who are so inconsiderate of others as to permit cows to roam deserve no consideration.

"Aunt Lucia" is coming to Coleman early in September. It is stated she is related to "Charles's Aunt," and she is causing considerable speculation as to the purpose of her visit. As to her age, no information has yet been gleaned. She may be young and pretty, or she may be old and catty.

A report of the installation of a dust-collecting plant at a colliery in Yorkshire, Eng., states: "It was noticeable that although the men had been working several hours, the exposed parts of their bodies were comparatively clean." The cost of the plant was approximately £2,000. The plant collects 2½ tons of dust a day.

The Young People's service in St. Paul's church on Sunday evening was attended by quite a large congregation. The choir helped to brighten the service with their fine singing, and a soprano solo was sung by Gwenie Brown. J. Emerson was the organist. Rowland Hill announced the hymns, Peggy Fairfull read the lesson, and Arthur Kirkby gave the prayer. An inspirational address was given by Rev. A. E. Larke on "The Magnificence of Christ," which was appreciated by young and old alike in the congregation.

Stone of the Salvation Army. Mr. Laik, though not knowing deceased, appropriately referred to his life and his service during war days, and pointed out how death always came as a forcible reminder of the uncertainty of life.

The pall-bearers were members of the Orange Lodge, being Andrew MacNeil, Neil McKinnon, Lewis Jones, J. Glendenning, R. Holmes, and Tom Hilbert. A wreath from the L.O.L. was placed on the coffin, and several members followed the hearse to the cemetery for the committal service.

The Young People's League and their friends are invited to participate in a treasure hunt and dinner roast next Tuesday evening, Aug. 12th. Those intending to attend must meet in front of the United Church at 6:30 p.m. sharp. Otherwise they will be out of luck for it will not be known where the treasure hunt ends and the bonfire begins. The treasure hunt begins at the church. If you are not there you will not know where we are going.

In order that we may know what provisions we are able to purchase it will be necessary that those going pay the sum of 25 cents to Fob Pattinson not later than Sunday noon.

Cause Of Our Economic Ills

Anything and everything that will have even the slightest effect in removing causes of friction between nations on the one hand, or of promoting goodwill on the other hand, would to us ever increasing degree receive the support of every government, every organization, every individual. There is danger as we get farther and farther away from the agony of the war years, 1914-1918, and as the horrors of that grim struggle begin to fade and become indistinct in our memories, to forget just how awful war really is.

It is well, therefore, to be occasionally reminded of what the Great War continues to mean to us today, twelve years after it passed into history. Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, whose outstanding characteristics in all his public speeches is his clear incisiveness, unswayed by hysteria or undue sentiment, gave a radio talk recently in which he pleaded for world peace, and for the putting forth of every effort to attain that object.

Despite Mr. Snowden's well known pacific tendencies, he dealt only with the mere dollars and cents aspect of war as an agent of destruction. Taking the case of Great Britain, he pointed out that it had spent some 50,000 million dollars on its part in the Great War. This was apart from the loss of the wealth-producing capacity of millions of men drawn for four years from useful employment, and of course took no cognizance of the loss of life.

The war, as Mr. Snowden pointed out, left Great Britain with a debt of over thirty-five billions of dollars, the interest on which alone costs one and three-quarter billions a year. It all has to come out of taxation.

At the present rate of payment, Mr. Snowden added, it will take 140 years to wipe it out. Today British people are raising $5,000,000 every day, $200,000 every hour, $3,000 every minute for debt purposes. It takes the whole-time labor of 2,000,000 workers year in and year out to pay the annual cost of the nation's burden of debt. To this must be added $575,000,000 which Britain annually spends on war services, and $280,000,000 it pays yearly for war pensions, which gives a total of $2,600,000,000—$5,000 a minute,—which Great Britain has to provide for war purposes.

Such stupendous figures throw Mr. Snowden's main point into bold relief. "It passes the power of the most imaginative mind," he said, "to conceive what prosperity and happiness could be added to the world if the resources wasted by war could have been used for the advancement of human wealth." But even the least imaginative mind must realize from the figures that now is the time for all good men and women the world over to ponder the folly of preparing for another war.

The great economic ills from which the world is suffering today,—and from which Canada unfortunately is not free,—could all be overcome if the huge amounts raised by taxation to pay war debts could be diverted into constructive channels, and to mention what might have been done had the enormous principal sum expended during the war itself been devoted to improving world conditions in all countries.

If the money spent waging war, by Britain alone, had, instead, been devoted to great constructive national programmes, there would have been no unemployment in Britain. Everybody would have been busy during the past twelve years, and everybody would be happy at work now. The standard of living in Britain would have been raised; housing and all social conditions would be on a higher plane than ever in the world's history.

And what would have been true of Great Britain would be equally true of all countries, Canada included. It is easy to thoughtlessly lay the blame for unemployment, depressed business conditions, falling markets, and sundry other ills to this cause and that cause, and to lay the blame here or there, but the basic cause is the war, and the huge burden it has imposed on all peoples and on every constructive, progressive movement that the peoples of the world, in their several countries, are anxious to carry on.

Campaigning for world peace is not a fad, nor the mere business of the idealist. It is the hardest headed business proposition confronting the world today. In its success is bound up the future welfare of every worker, every man and woman, the future of their children and children's children,—indeed their very lives. Only through the achievement and maintenance of world peace can the present economic ills of the world be remedied.

A Clock That Speaks

Combination Radio and Electric Phonograph Is Result Of Experiment

After considerable experimentation, an inventor has produced a clock that speaks the time. The instrument consists of a combination talking clock, radio and electric phonograph all installed in a grand-father case. The clock not only speaks the hours and half hours, but also may be made to tell the time in the form of a cheerful greeting, such as "Good morning—six o'clock." The cabinet contains an electric radio receiver with dynamic speaker which is used for the talking clock voice, the radio, and the phonograph reproduction.

Good Roads In Ireland

Country Carrying Out Reconstruction Program Every Year

During the past five years, twenty-seven miles of concrete road have been laid in County Antrim. The programme which has been followed, has been the reconstruction of about five miles per annum of the worst sections of the heaviest trafficked road. During 1929, several of these sections have been linked up, and by the end of the year there will be one section seventeen miles long. This will be the longest stretch of continuous concrete road in the British Isles.

Some extraordinary farm service records were revealed by the awards to servants and laborers, in connection with the Lincolnshire Agricultural Society's annual show held at Skegness, England. In the class for servants in husbandry who have worked on the same farm for the greatest number of years, Samuel Bentley, of Horncastle, aged 74, took the premier award, his record being 55½ years with Messrs. W. Crowder and Sons, of Horncastle. The second prize winner, aged 83, William Goodwin, of Rippington, South Lincoln, had 53 years' service to his credit.

Manitoba Water Power

Claimed That Bulk Of Water Power In Prairie Provinces Located In Manitoba

The considerable power resources of the Province of Manitoba are estimated at 5,000,000 h.p. of which 308,000 h.p. already are in operation. It is claimed that 72 per cent. of all the water power resources in the prairie provinces are situated in Manitoba. The Winnipeg River power sites are estimated to be sufficient to provide for a population of 2,500,000 in Winnipeg and to provide employment for 300,000 industrial workers. This power will turn out products worth in the neighborhood of a billion dollars every year.

Present Low Prices No Cause For Dependency To Pool Members

In the editorial columns of the Alberta Farmer, dated July 10, 1930, reference is made to the fact that in spite of the existing depression in the wheat market, Pool members are not dependent. We quote from the editorial:

"On the contrary, when they look back to pre-Pool days they congratulate themselves that the Pool is functioning in this year of low prices. And they shiver when they think of what depths wheat prices might have gone had there been no Pool."

Pale People Are In Peril

Some Form Of Nervous Breakdown Always Threatens Them

Pale people are almost always nervous. Paleness denotes lack of blood and too little blood usually results in faded nerves, sleeplessness, headaches or neuritis.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are different from most other medicines. It is impossible to take them and not feel better. Their whole mission is to make rich the blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives vitality to the whole body. Concerning them Mrs. G. Cook, Bloom Street, Toronto, says: "Two years ago I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for a nervous breakdown with the result that I have been well and strong ever since."

You can get these Pills from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Experiments In Television

Broadcasting Of A Play In English Not a Complete Success

For the first time in England the system of television was supplied to the public, although still in the experimental stage, with the broadcasting of a play by the British Broadcasting Corporation. The piece chosen was Luigi Pirandello's "The Man With a Flower in His Mouth."

The London Times assigned its regular dramatic critic to review the television production and in his review he said:

"Let it be admitted at once that plays by television are as yet a subject for men of science and not for critics of the finer points of acting. The visual transmission is far from perfect. You feel yourself prying through a keyhole at some unsavory dazzling exhibition of the first film ever made. But if the process has still a long way to go before every subscriber of the British Broadcasting Corporation is fully satisfied by seeing and hearing plays in his own library, the difficulties already overcome are many and remarkable."

The space in which the actors have their being is half a small cube, albeit diagonally by an effective plane of phosphoric cells. The actor kept as close to the projector as a man with his head in a band box with his movements slow and deliberate. When another actor appeared a chequered screen passed across the "stage" and the scenery provided by C. R. W. Neilson's drawings instead of a screen.

The television "stage" is perhaps the world's most intimate theatre, with the exception of the stage. Working in inches, where others work in yards. What its audience saw in television was an image of about postcard size of varying clearness. The London Times concludes its review by saying: "The men of the theatre may meanwhile rest in peace. The time for interest and curiosity is come, but the time for serious criticism of television plays as plays is not yet."

International trade of the United States during June declined to the lowest monthly level the country has experienced in the last six years. Exports amounted to $229,000,000, a figure less than that of any month since July, 1924. Imports for the last month were $235,000,000, which is lower than those recorded since January, 1922. Imports and exports for June were each approximately $100,000,000 below those for the same month last year.

Gems Belonging To Nobility Lost In Airplane Crash

The London Daily Express says jewels valued at $35,000 (about $235,000) were scattered over the ground near Meopham, Kent, at the time of the recent aeroplane disaster in which six persons, including three of the nobility, perished.

The jewels in question belonged to the late Viscountess Edman and the late Mrs. Lieflier, both of whom were wearing pearl necklaces and diamond brooches.

Accidental discovery of a few gems by a villager reminded friends of the dead women that they had their jewelry with them. Police are searching around Meopham in the hope of finding other gems.

Exhibition Grain

Grain To Be Shown At World's Grain Show May Be Grown Any Year

There still seems to be a wrong impression in some parts of Canada regarding the year in which grain for exhibit at the World's Grain Show may be grown, says a bulletin of the show executive. It is well, therefore, to repeat that there is absolutely no restriction whatever regarding the season in which grain for exhibit is grown.

It may have been or may be grown in any year. Of course, because all exhibits must be in the hands of the exhibition authorities at Regina on or before March 1, 1932, it will be impossible to grow Canadian grain for exhibition in 1932. Canadian grain for exhibit therefore, if not already grown, must be grown either this season or during the season of 1931.

GIANT DIRIGIBLE R-100 REACHES ST. HUBERT PORT

Montreal.—After a weary wait, Great Britain's giant threat for the supremacy of the skies, hovered over St. Hubert airport, early on Friday, August 1st. Just a little over three days after leaving Cardington, England, the R-100 reached the mooring mast, marking the end of the transatlantic flight. Fabric trouble caused a delay of several hours, and cut down the speed after reaching the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

As newpapermen and ground crew awaited, the dirigible was first sighted 10 miles northeast of St. Hubert at 2:04 a.m. Eastern Daylight Saving Time, and was travelling slowly east toward the illuminated landing field. Half an hour later the huge, silvery silhouette could be seen, barely moving, at an altitude of about 500 feet above the ground.

The final appearance of the sky-wanderer after many hours of waiting, was the signal for an outburst of cheering from those at the airport. Behind the high fence surrounding the field, too, were perhaps a thousand people who have braved first a scorching day, then a windstorm and rain.

It was not the first time the R-100 had experienced trouble with its fabric skin. On the first extended flight over England the fabric tore on the tail surfaces and the rear portion of the ship was rather extensively remodelled in an effort to prevent a recurrence of the mishap.

The ship stopped over the island of Orleans for two hours while repairs were made to the damaged fabric on her fin. The cloth was torn while the big airship was almost within sight of Quebec.

A large square flap of loose fabric was noticed in the top of the envelope. Captain Henry St. Martin, of Montreal, pilot of a "movie" plane flew within some miles of the airship and noticed that she was barely holding her head in to the wind.

"There seemed to be a tear in the top of the bag," Captain St. Martin said. "She hardly seemed to be moving."

She seemed almost to drift by Quebec, the noise of her motor being hardly audible from the ground.

Soon after passing the Quebec bridge the R-100 opened up her engines and her speed appreciably increased. She was flying at about 1,000 feet.

The shores of the St. Lawrence in the neighborhood of the villages were crowded with people eager to get a glimpse of the monster as she sailed by on the last leg of her trip.

Imperial Conference

Premier Ramsay MacDonald Says Problems Of Unprecedented Difficulties To Be Faced

London, Eng.—The Imperial Economic Conference must face constitutional problems of unprecedented difficulty, Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald told a meeting of the United Kingdom Branch, Empire Parliamentary Association, in Westminster Hall, recently.

The year is going to be one of the great, deeply marked years in history, thought the premier. Who had the responsibilities connected with the Imperial conference would only succeed by skillfully practising the art of blending lessons of the past with the outlook on the future. While believing in party government, he felt an attempt should be made to get Imperial questions considered first by all parties.

After all, he declared, the Commonwealth and the nations which compose it are very much greater than any one party.

Declined To Receive Deputation

London, England.—A parliamentary committee appointed to deal with grievances of Indians in Canada, informed a delegation of six Nations Indians from Brantford, Ont., that Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Dominion Affairs, had declined to receive the deputation on the ground the grievances claimed were a matter for consideration by the Canadian Government.

Body Of British Flyer Is Found

London, England.—The Evening News carried a dispatch from Rangoon which said the body of the British flyer, Eric Hook, when found in the jungles of Burma, was little more than a skeleton. It apparently had been terribly mauled by a leopard or a tiger. Hook was lost when his plane was forced down on an attempted flight to Australia recently. His partner was saved.

Improved Crop Conditions

Betterment During the Past Week Is Reported In Some Areas

OTTAWA, Ont.—Crop conditions have improved, particularly in central Saskatchewan and Alberta, according to the weekly crop report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In Manitoba there has been an increase in severity of stem rust infection, some stands in the central and southern sections of the province having infections ranging from 30 to 75 per cent.

The report continues: Western weather since our report of July 24, has been hot, with scattered showers and some good rains. Precipitation has been sufficient in Manitoba, in central Saskatchewan, and in central and northern Alberta over much the same territory which received beneficial rains during the previous week. The first low temperatures of the harvest season were recorded from northern and southern stations of Alberta and from Vidora, Saskatchewan.

Crop conditions show a further betterment during the week, particularly in central areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Frosts, sufficient to blacken potatoes, are reported by the Beaver Lodge sub-station, in the Grande Prairie district. Since from one to seven degrees of frost were recorded, some damage to grain will result, although the extent cannot be determined. With favorable weather conditions, stem rust infection shows a serious increase on the leafy, late grown wheat of Manitoba, with only slight increases on the lighter stands of Saskatchewan wheat.

The full text of the wire from the Dominion rust research laboratory at Winnipeg is as follows:

"Weather conditions were favorable for stem rust development last week. Decided increase in severity of infection on common wheat throughout Manitoba. Some heavy stands in central and southern Manitoba have infections ranging in severity from thirty to seventy-five per cent. Injury already apparent in certain fields of this area. Light stands much less affected. Some fields of early variety ready to cut in about a week. Only traces rust on durum wheat. Stem rust increasing on barley, severity now ranges five to twenty-five per cent. No decided change reported in rust situation of north-eastern Saskatchewan on July 25. In south-eastern Saskatchewan rust has increased with severity of infection ranging from one to six per cent. on wheat and barley and pustules appearing on necks of plants. Leaf rust found on wheat in Alberta, but no stem rust yet reported."

U.S. County Judge Sent To Prison
New York.—W. Bernard Vause, who as county judge in Brooklyn, was noted for the severity of his sentences, and who once recommended the whipping post for criminals, was sentenced to six years in federal prison. Judge Vause was found guilty of using the mails to defraud in the conduct of the defunct Columbia Finance Corporation.

Report Massey Has Resigned
Toronto, Ont.—The Mail and Empire in a news feature says: "Hon. Vincent Massey is understood to have forwarded to Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King his resignation of the post of Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain and to have asked that Hon. R. B. Bennett be so advised."

Protest Against Use Of Liquor
Washington.—A protest against the use of liquor at the British embassy has been received by Sir Ronald Lindsay, from Samuel B. Woods, former Mayor of Charlottesville, Va., and an ardent dry.

BENNETT WILL PROCEED TO FORM HIS NEW CABINET

Ottawa, Ont.—A special session of parliament—probably on or before September 11—is a certainty. Carrying out his promise to the Canadian people to deal with unemployment "immediately after July 28," Premier-elect Hon. R. B. Bennett is already taking action in this direction as the first step towards the implementation of the pledges he gave during the recent campaign.

Tuesday, September 2, looms as the probable date for by-election day if any minister selected by the Conservative chieftain to serve in his administration happens to be opposed.

By-election writs will likely be issued as soon as Mr. Bennett takes office as Prime Minister, with nomination day likely set for August 18. In case any chosen minister represents a constituency in which, under the Dominion Election Act, two weeks must intervene between nomination and polling day. The majority of constituencies only require the intervention of seven days.

Probable cabinet selections are the chief topic of discussion among political observers in the capital. In addition, speakers of both the House of Commons and the Senate will have to be appointed. By reason of his ill-health, Hon. Hugh Guthrie (South Wellington), may be made speaker of the Commons, or George Black (Yukon), may be chosen. If his health, however, is considered to permit his undertaking more arduous duties, Mr. Guthrie will probably be appointed to the cabinet.

Hon. R. J. Macdonald (Fort William), is another very probable selection. Dr. Manion was postmaster-general in 1926. Hon. J. D. Chaplin and Hon. E. B. Ryckman are prominently mentioned for office cabinet posts. For the province of Quebec, Mr. George Perley (Argenteuil), former Canadian High Commissioner in London; Maurice Dupre, who defeated Gerard Lacroix, in Quebec West; Arthur Durnan, victorious Conservative candidate in Chambly Verchères, and Arthur Sauve, former Conservative leader in the Quebec legislature, are mentioned.

Premier E. S. Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, and W. G. Ernst, elected in Queens-Lunenburg, are possible appointees from Nova Scotia; in Prince Edward Island, Hon. J. A. MacDonald or J. H. Meyers continue to be mentioned for the cabinet.

For the speakership of the senate, was joint chairman at the 1927 Winnipeg convention of Conservatives, is a possible appointee.

Has Nothing To Say

Winnipeg, Man.—(Hon. T. A. Crean, Minister of Railways, who was defeated in Brandon constituency in the federal elections) for Ottawa, said he "had nothing to say" regarding possible plans for his return to the House by a by-election in some constituency.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL VISITS FIRST CANADIAN HEALTH UNIT

This picture was taken when Their Excellencies Lord and Lady Willingdon visited the County Health Unit in Beauveville, Quebec. This Health Unit was the first to be formed in Canada and has been operating on full time for a number of years with great benefit to the surrounding communities. A motion was made in the House of Commons during the last session asking the Canadian Government to consider subsidizing these small full-time medical departments in rural communities from coast to coast.

Emphasizes Independence

Premier Hertzog Says South Africa Has Right To Secede From British Commonwealth

Pretoria, South Africa.—Emphasizing the complete independence of South Africa and her right to secede from the British Commonwealth of Nations if she ever in the future desired to do so, Prime Minister James Barry Hertzog delivered an important speech on the eve of his departure for the Imperial Conference in London, England.

"No lot or tithe of our independence will be sacrificed," he said. "I am convinced we possess complete independence. The people of South Africa will be prepared to an ever-increasing extent to heartily maintain co-operation with Great Britain and the Dominions. But co-operation will depend on national independence. In no circumstances may the right to secede from the British Commonwealth be taken from South Africa."

India Boycott Continues

Agitators Plan To Intensify the Civil Disobedience Campaign

Bombay, India.—With plans for stiffening the boycott against British goods and intensifying the civil disobedience campaign believed to be its principal agenda, the working committee of the All-India Congress opened its sessions recently.

Only ten of the committee members were present, 21 being in prison on various charges preferred by the government. The sessions, held behind closed doors, were expected to continue three and possibly four days. Vallabhai Patel presided.

Members of the committee said the peace plans of Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. Jayakar probably would not be considered. They added that the negotiations certainly would not influence the committee's decisions.

Party Standing

Toronto, Ont.—The Canadian Press summary of the standing of the parties in the Dominion elections is as follows: Conservatives, 138; Liberals, 86; U.F.A., 10; Progressives, 2; Liberal-Progressives, 3; Independents, 2; Labor, 3; doubtful, 1; total, 245.

Chinese Pillage Homes

Communists Loot and Burn Foreign Holdings

Shanghai, China.—In the most serious devastation of foreign property in China for many years, Communists looted and burned all or nearly all foreign holdings at Changsha, capital of Hunan province.

Foreigners generally were "safe" board British, United States and Japanese gunboats, five miles down the Yangtze River. Four missionaries who elected to remain in the city were unaccounted for.

Changsha was divided into 50 districts for pillaging. Directed by leaders, the despoilers carried foreign effects into the street as plunder before firing the buildings. Coolies looking on were harangued by the Red leaders, and many were persuaded to join the Communist army to seize a share of property "wrongfully possessed by the upper classes."

Despatches said foreign consulates, residences and large office buildings on Shuiliu Island opposite the city probably would be destroyed.

Value of foreign property already burned amounted to millions of dollars. The total could not be estimated.

Saskatchewan Egg Pool

Increase In Prices Over Those Paid In 1929

Regina, Sask.—An increase in prices over those paid for the same period in 1929 is noted in the final payment of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Poultry Producers Ltd., or Egg Pool, cheques for which are now being prepared at the head office here. This payment covers the second pool of the year, which closed Saturday, July 19.

The prices being paid are: Eggs, 22 cents; first, 19 cents; second, 17 cents; third, 15 cents. They are net cash, f.o.b. shipping point on freight shipments.

NATIONAL WORKS GO ON UNDER NEW GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, Ont.—The tide of party success ebbs and flows but the great national undertakings of this Dominion go forward regardless of who come and gone since the work was first started on the Welland ship canal. It was to have been officially opened on July 1, with a Liberal ministry directing. This formal ceremony had to be put off and now a Conservative government will be in office for this historic event. It is not expected the date for the opening will be fixed for some time.

In the case of the Hudson Bay Railway, the driving of the last spike was planned for last fall but these plans were changed. It was decided to have the celebration on the occasion of the opening of the ocean route rather than at the completion of the railway, so it will likely be next year. Therefore, the new government will officiate at the completion of these works started many governments ago.

The probability is that the new ministry's greatest undertaking will be the St. Lawrence River deep waterways. This prospect makes the portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals one of the most important in the government, even more because of the canal than the railway. That is why many people in this city are expecting Premier Howard Ferguson to be the one selected to fill that position.

It is interesting to trace the lives of governments alongside such works as the Welland ship canal or the Hudson Bay Railway. The first contracts for the railway were let by Rt. Hon. George P. Graham as Minister of Railways and Canals in the Laurier government, in 1910. This was for one section. Then the government of Sir Robert Borden came into office and the contracts for two other sections were let by the Conservatives. Nelson was then the objective.

Work proceeded through the Conservative tenure of office and into the time of the Unionist regime. It was discontinued in 1918 because of the stress of the war. The government of Mr. Meighen came after that, and in 1921 the government of Mr. King took office. In 1926 the terminal was shifted from Nelson to Churchill, and the railway to that point was completed last year. The port construction and the aids to navigation are in course of construction.

The work on the Welland Canal was started under the Borden government, in 1913, and continued until it was stopped in 1917. It was started again under the Unionist government late in 1918 and has been continued ever since.

MANY CHANGES IN PORTFOLIO OF IMMIGRATION

Ottawa, Ont.—Who will be the next minister of immigration? Many names are being forecasted. Some think Hon. Robert Rogers will get the post. With the change of government the conference on immigration will not likely be held at least until after the Imperial Conference.

Immigration has had more variety in the matter of bosses during the last ten years than any other department of the government. Before 1921, Hon. James Calder was minister of immigration. Previous to sections of that year however the cabinet was reorganized and Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards took over that portfolio. He was defeated at the same time the Meighen Government was beaten.

To form his ministry, Premier Mackenzie King first gave the immigration portfolio to Hon. Charles Stewart along with Interior. In 1923 however, Hon. James A. Robb took it over and held it until the resignation of the cabinet before the 1925 election. Hon. G. N. Gordon was then made minister of immigration. He met defeat in the election and the department came back to Hon. Charles Stewart.

Dr. Stewart's high tenure began in 1926. Hon. Dr. Manion was minister of the department for a short time and then Sir Henry Drayton. With the return of Mr. King's government, Hon. Robert Forke became head of the department and remained in that position until December 1929, when he went to the senate and the job came back to Mr. Stewart once more. The present minister is Hon. Ian Mackenzie who was named last month. The election campaign kept him in the west and papers of which he had to pass were forwarded to him there. Now there will be a new minister, but what's a new minister or two in the life of the immigration department. There have been changes in nine years and another one coming.

Change Permit System

New System Of Liquor Permits To Be Introduced In Ontario

Hamilton, Ont.—Introduction of a new system of liquor permits under which the total amount of purchases will be designed in dollars and cents, was announced by Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Liquor Control Board, at the convention here of the Chief Constables Association of Canada.

This was one of the measures definitely decided upon to curb the abuse of liquor purchasers by recognized permit holders in Ontario.

Queried by a delegate, Sir Henry admitted there were faults in the present Ontario system, but he declared, "I do not think we ever will have the free sale of beer in stores or in parlors."

A dangerous criminal sought in connection with a major crime usually is safe in jail while serving a term. This was the message brought by Chief M. S. Wigle, of Windsor, in a paper advocating for police departments the privilege of taking fingerprints and photographs of persons held on charges of vagrancy.

Want Wider Markets

British Columbia Lumbermen Look To Britain For Sale Of Products

Victoria, B.C.—Urging a greater participation in the British markets by B.C. lumber and asking that a delegation be sent to the Imperial Economic Conference in the fall to further this aim, a delegation representing the lumbermen of the province waited on Premier S. F. Tolmie recently.

The lumbermen described conditions in the province as being exceedingly unfavorable at the present time. Prices were falling and demand was shrinking. The British market was the only one which showed possibilities of expansion.

Wheat For China

Surplus Wheat From United States May Go To Feed Starving Chinese

Wakenfield, Kansas.—Senator Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, in an address here said prospects were more hopeful that some of this country's surplus wheat would be sent to the famine stricken China.

President Hoover and Chairman Alexander Legge, of the Federal Farm Board, the senator said, are studying the possibilities of distributing wheat to the famine areas through the co-operation of the Chinese Government.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Governments stand or fall on their record of achievement in the interests of the people whom they represent.

Premier Brownlee has a fine opportunity to serve the coal industry of this province by arranging for the reopening of a fuel office in Winnipeg. He has already intimated his willingness to do so.

There is invested in Alberta several millions of dollars in coal mining properties. Employment is furnished to several thousand mine workers, whose earnings make business for hundreds engaged in other lines of activity. The more wealth produced from the coal deposits of the province, the more will there be available for all channels of business. Therefore, it is good business for the provincial government to take an active part in encouraging the development of the coal industry and the securing of wider markets.

Most towns, like Topy, just grow up. No plans are made other than to stake off lots to build on. When the townsite of Coleman was first surveyed, there must have been many fine trees destroyed. Now people pay money to have trees planted around their homes. A town in the mountains has a natural background of beauty. In some instances, notably at Banff and Jasper, this valuable asset has been enhanced by care and foresight in laying out townsites and erecting buildings to conform with well defined plans.

The Town Planning Commission of the provincial government is endeavoring to arouse interest in this direction, and no town is too small to take advantage of its suggestions and advice. It might at first appear to be an impossible task to inculcate a desire for beauty in some sections of this town, but persistent effort would undoubtedly result in gradual improvement. One man will make an attractive spot out of a patch of gravelly soil, another will make no attempt to improve his surroundings. But the force of example of the more ambitious individual will prompt others to follow suit. A town planning commission in Coleman, if established, will have plenty of scope for work.

A home is a place to not merely live in, but to take a live interest in. A town is a community of homes. Why not make it a community of homes in the true sense of the word? Ambition and co-operation can achieve wonderful results.

The revolutionary leaders of Soviet Russia openly state there can be no compromise with those who oppose them. As we live in Canada, we do not have to submit to such a one-sided doctrine. Discontent furnishes a fertile ground for agitators, and we have them in the Crows Nest Pass, irresponsible who would aggravate conditions and bring on increased hardships for the workers. Examine the records of those prominent in the Communist cause in this province, and what can be found to commend them to the workers? Not a Communist candidate was elected in the recent Federal elections, for very good reasons. Russia's gigantic experiment has yet to be proved, yet we have agitators, who know no more about conditions in Russia than the man on the street, trying to impress on workers what a paradise it is for those who have to work. Canada must work out its own problems to provide employment, but of all the clap-trap heard so far from soap-box orators, we have not heard anything that resembles a useful suggestion. It is largely with a sense of humor that many listen to them, while others turn away in disgust.

We go away on vacations to do the same things we do at home. True, a change of scenery is enjoyed, and new faces are seen, yet many return just as fatigued as when they started. Even if you have to wallow through clouds of dust and make a merry scramble to be first in at a tourist camp, the mental activities are stirred by unusual pursuits, and the desire to see as much as possible in the short time available for a vacation leaves the holiday seeker with a feeling of weariness. Many so-called vacations consist of real hard work, but being of a different nature to our daily tasks, one can at least take consolation in the thought that a change of work is as good as a rest. Maybe!

"Where has business gone?" The plain truth is that business hasn't gone anywhere. It is right here. Always has been. Always will be. But business nowadays is operating on the "cafeteria" plan. You've got to help your self. The chap who sits around waiting for "table service" is doomed to disappointment—and lots of it.

The foregoing is taken from a circular received from a printing firm. Its truth needs no further emphasis. Greater effort must be expended to secure business than when it just naturally rolls along.

Difficulties met by Canadian and United States motorists when taking their cars to Europe have been overcome by facilities afforded by the Canadian Pacific Railway, under which the owner can ship his car as baggage between Canada and European points in either direction. The Company arranges for the necessary customs and registration documents for every country to be visited, driving licenses, license plates, and membership in the Royal Automobile Club. The car is unloaded within an hour of the ship's arrival and is furnished with oil and a small supply of gasoline and made ready for the road. There is no red-tape and no bond or other financial guarantee required.

Believed to be the largest salmon ever taken by fly on the Medway River, Cape Breton, Archie Jondry, Baugscoote Club guide, took a fish recently that weighed 22 lbs., was 42 inches long and with a girth of 21 inches. The fish has been photographed for reproduction in the Saturday Evening Post.

The railway grade crossing problem is not a problem of the railway's making but essentially a "social problem" and responsibility for its solution rests upon society as a whole, in the opinion of W. P. Borland, Chief of the Bureau of Safety, United States Interstate Commerce Commission.

Where Has Business Gone?

There Isn't Any Santa Claus!

Some business men have just discovered that truth. And they are all hot and bothered about it. For years "the stockings hung by the fireside" have been filled with satisfying regularity and liberality. Large orders came every day. Everybody was having a wonderful time.

But something has happened. And the bewildered ones are asking each other, "Where has Business gone?"

Well, where has Business gone?

As John Wanamaker used to say, "There is always someone, someplace who wants to buy---and CAN buy---what you want to sell." If this "someone" no longer walks in the front door, it is plainly up to us to go out AFTER him. Find him! Tell him! Sell him!

Let's face the facts. Nobody is going to hand us anything. The folks who go after orders intelligently and earnestly will reap the rewards. The waiters and the waiters are on the way out. This is the day of the Doers!

A Golf Course in the Clouds

Just a mile above sea-level and ringed by mountains rising another mile into the air, the 18-hole golf course of the Banff Springs Hotel in the Canadian Rockies is probably unique among the world's outstanding links. Its hazards are unparalleled and as an example there is the drive from the first tee over the foaming waters of the Spray River, shown in above lay-out. The golf club house is a very picturesque building in architectural keeping with the baronial pile of the nearby hotel, a glimpse of which is shown against the background of mountains on the second green. The course which has just been completed, presented enormous difficulties in making, but these were all successfully overcome and grounds that are a perfect pendant to one of the most beautiful and luxurious hotels on the continent are now at the disposal of guests.

Three Generations of Golfers

Golfers, like poets, are born, even though, unlike poets, they are also made. But when a six-year-old girl makes a par-four hole in seven including a drive across the Spray River, and when her mother at 17 was golf champion of Alberta, and when, further, her grandfather is the professional at the Banff Springs Golf Course—why then, you have to allow a little something for heredity. The above data cover the facts in the case of Lois Dalglish 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. Peggy Dalglish and granddaughter of William "Bill" Thomson, professional at the Banff Springs Golf Course since 1910. "Start them young" is a good rule in any sport, but is particularly applicable to golf. Lois' mother began her golfing career at six but Lois herself commenced at four, when her grandfather purchased diminutive specially made clubs for the baby hands and spent hours of patient training with her—hours of spontaneously invented methods of teaching. The result is that a child of barely school age is doing what many adults and in fact many golfers cannot do, namely, making par four holes in seven strokes while her putting is beautiful to watch.

Lay-out shows the spectacular drive across the Spray River which features the Banff Springs Golf Course; the three golfing generations; Lois swinging for the drive across the river; and Lois putting—true as a die.

Brandon police are looking for the person who passed an American one dollar bill off on a local hotel for $20. From the staff house of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company at Flin Flon, Mr. Bracken and Bruce Bracken, his son held a combined radio and long distance telephone talk with Mrs. Bracken, Winnipeg.

The premier's conversation marked the first official test of the new radio phone system between Flin Flon and The Pas and the results were entirely successful.

Interesting Experiment

During recent experiments, Marconi has recorded air messages on a phonograph disc with perfect success. The experiment was made by the inventor while on his yacht lying near Genoa. The message was sent to Sydney, Australia, about 11,000 miles away. The recording was not only caught perfectly, but was re-transmitted from Sydney by wireless to the original sender.

Prefer Silent Films

Motion-picture fans of Denmark prefer the silent film and soft music to the sound film. Especially is this apparent in Copenhagen. The principal reason is apparently the linguistic difficulties, which the partial translation of texts has failed to overcome. Few Danes understand English.

Chinese Stowaways

Party of Six Have Narrow Escape From Death When Vessel Is Fumigated

Efforts of six Chinese stowaways to enter Canada aboard the British freighter S.S. Benary, failed when they reached New Westminster recently.

The sextette were fortunate to be alive after more than two weeks in a coal bunker aboard the ship, and especially after fumigation operations took place. By some chance deadly cyanide gas failed to reach the hold where the Chinese were hiding.

Officers who entered the hold declared it was a marvel they survived the ocean trip as it was probably worse than the famous "Black Hole of Calcutta." It was believed that Chinese members of the ship's crew kept their companions provided with food on the long trip.

The ship left Yokohama on July 4. After being arrested they were turned over to the Vancouver immigration authorities to await deportation.

Amended Grain Act

New Regulations Come Into Force On September First

By a proclamation in the current issue of the "Canada Gazette," the Grain act as amended shall come into force on September 1.

The act was re-written following recommendations made by the agricultural committee of the House of Commons, and was passed last session. A lengthy investigation of the operation of the act was conducted during the last two sessions of parliament and numerous amendments were approved. Several grades were given new definitions, clauses were inserted to prevent mixing of grades and the whole field of the act's operations was reviewed.

Great Britain's unemployment total is nearing the 2,000,000 mark. It was announced by the Ministry of Labor. The official statement said that on July 21 the number of persons out of work was 1,972,700, an increase of 22,834 in a week and $50,057 in a year.

Brandon police are looking for the person who passed an American one dollar bill off on a local hotel for $20. The bill was raised from $1 to $20 in such masterful style that the authorities are of the opinion that the country might be flooded with the bills. The work is thoroughly done and it was only when the bill had received close scrutiny at the bank that the deception was caught.

OUT DOOR LIFE CALLS FOR NOURISHING FOOD

By AMY SMITH
Well Known Domestic Science Authority

Off for a day or a month—in the car or hiking, boating, fishing, after a few hours you will find FOOD looms up as the biggest thing in the world. Scenery, yes—but such appetites!

Of course milk, and plenty of it, is essential for nourishing, appetizing food—and for campers or picnickers Borden's Evaporated Milk is by far the best choice, providing plenty of pure, rich milk, regardless of weather conditions, rough journeys, out-of-the-way camping places—and lack of life.

Because Evaporated Milk has had half the water removed, you can rely on its extra richness, which can be utilized to take the place of eggs or butter in many kinds of cooking. For instance, an old guide, famous for his fish fricassee, said that in camp he always dipped the fish in undiluted Evaporated Milk before the final coating with cornmeal.

When Evaporated is to be used instead of milk in any recipe it should be diluted with an equal amount of water. Remember this simple rule and you will find it successful in your own recipes. To "cream" your coffee, use it undiluted.

Spreading of Fish—

A "dry pot" is used by Canadian guides or "hacks" to keep large chunks. After dipping the pieces of fish in Evaporated Milk and then in cornmeal, dip them in the deep fat (very hot) and fry until brown. And, by the way, take this hint from sea-faring men: If you are in the right place of the right kind in the right place (if possible sheltered from the wind) will do the job better than a face-blistering conflagration.

A savory fish chowder is always a welcome addition to camp, and is easily made with Evaporated Milk.

Fish Chowder—

Cut the fish in chunks and remove as many bones as possible. Cover with bottom of an iron pot with salt of fat salt pork and fry out part of the fat. Remove part of the pork slices, then add a layer of sliced, raw potatoes, some sliced onions and a layer of fish. Cover with pieces of hard tack biscuit and season each layer, scattering the salt, for the pork is very salty. Repeat the process until the pot is two-thirds full. Add just enough water to cover to level of the fish. Cover the pot and simmer for one and one-half hours, until the potatoes and fish are tender. Add one tall can of Borden's St. Charles Milk. Bring just to boiling. Serve.

Easy Hot Bread

Hot corn breads to eat with the bacon, fish, or pork and gravy, add a huge success after a day in the open—or to begin the day.

Cornmeal Flapjacks

1 cup cornmeal.
1 cup flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1/2 cup Borden's St. Charles Milk.
1/2 cup water.

2 tablespoons melted fat (bacon fat may be used).

Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Add the milk, diluted with water, and beat well. Add the fat, the hot, greased griddle or frying pan. They need a little longer cooking than wheat griddle cakes.

Camp Corn Dodgers

Put one quart cornmeal into a bowl. Make a hollow in center of meal and into this put one tablespoon lard and one teaspoon salt. Pour over this equal parts Borden's St. Charles Milk and water heated to scalding point, stirring all the time until a dough is formed which can be molded with hands. Cool slightly, form into cakes and cook slowly on a well greased griddle. (The quantity of diluted milk needed depends on the kind of cornmeal used.)

Greatest Water Powers In Canada Can Be Developed At The Coast

The greatest water powers in Canada, greater even than those harnessed along the St. Lawrence, have been revealed along the coast of British Columbia, north of Vancouver, by government engineers, during the past summer, it is stated at parliament buildings, Victoria.

Preliminary reports indicate that in addition to the noted Pacific Coast to Homathko power, with a possible development of 1,200,000 horsepower, two other sources of electricity discovered bring the possible development of the coast district up to the huge figures of 3,000,000 horsepower.

The two new power sites, revealed by recent surveys, are at Tahsta Lake and Eutsak Lake. By turning the waters of these lakes westward to the sea instead of eastward into the Fraser, engineers believe that 1,800,000 horsepower can be harnessed. The third project calls for the diversion of the Chilko waters westward to the sea by the Homathko River.

Wheat Pool Elevators

Up to July 16, 1930, the percentage of Pool Wheat delivered to the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and passing through Pool Country Elevators amounted to 87.12 per cent, leaving only 12.88 per cent, as having gone through Line Elevators. The corresponding percentage of grain through Pool Elevators at the same date last year was 74.60 per cent.

HANNAH "A GODLY MOTHER"

Golden Text: "My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother."—Proverbs 1:8.

Lesson: 1 Samuel 1:1-28; 2:1-11, 18, 19; 3:1-18.

Devotional Reading: Luke 1:48-55.

Explanations and Comments

Hannah's Prayer For a Son, Chapter 1:9-11.—Hannah and her husband Elkanah were regularly every year, to the Sanctuary at Shiloh, there to worship and offer sacrifice at one of the great religious feasts, probably "The Feast of Ingathering," or "Feast of Tabernacles," which was held after the grape and olive harvest.

As was customary, after a portion of the sacrificial victim was burnt at the altar, and another portion had been given the priests, the family partook of the rest within the sanctuary precincts. But Hannah could not eat, for sad and bitter thoughts filled her mind when she contrasted her childrenless lot with that of Peninnah, Elkanah's other wife, who was blessed with many children. After the meal was over she presented herself in the temple to pray to Jehovah.

Her prayer was accompanied by many tears as, standing with her face towards the ark, she made her vow that if Jehovah would bless her with a boy, she would consecrate him all the days of his life to Jehovah, and he should be a Nazirite, one set apart to the Lord, of which his unshaven head would be a token. The characteristic marks of the Nazirites were the refraining from wine and all intoxicating drinks, the letting the hair grow, and the avoidance of defilement by corpses.

The Answer To Prayer, 1:18, 20.—Hannah returned to her home in Ramah. When she was made happy by the coming of a son, she named him Samuel, "because I have asked him of the Lord." Hebrew scholars tell us that the word "Samuel" has no connection with the Hebrew word for "asked," and they connect the first part of the name with the Semite root for "name," taking Samuel to mean "Name of God."

Hannah Gives Her Only Son To The Service of Jehovah, verses 24-28. When Hannah weaned her boy, he was probably three years old, she brought him to the house of the Lord in Shiloh. She brought also an offering, as the law required for the firstling of three bullocks, a basket of meal and a bottle of wine.

Hannah made herself known to Eli the priest by recalling the time when he had seen her praying in the sanctuary, and then she presented the boy for whom she had prayed.

Feat Of Mountain Climbers

Eight Peaks Over Ten Thousand Feet High Are Negotiated

Eight peaks over 10,000 feet high, three of them unnamed, in the upper region of the Athabasca River and behind Maligne Lake, where the Canadian Alpine Club assembled at its annual camp, were reported to have been climbed for the first time with the return, after an absence of 17 days, of a party led by Dr. Max Strumia, of Philadelphia, and Dr. W. R. Hainsworth, of New York. Accompanied by Newton Waffo, of Orange, N.J., and John F. Lehmann, of Everett, Mass., Strumia and Hainsworth first climbed Mount Christie, 10,180 feet high, from a high camp on Bryant Creek. Later, climbing Mount Belanger, 10,200 feet in altitude, they were within 50 feet of being swept to their death by avalanches and on their descent were held for three hours on a rock ledge all the descending snow rendered snowslides improbable and their progress less hazardous.

An unnamed peak near Mount Wollsey, whose altitude is placed at 10,700 feet, offered the greatest difficulty. Only by inserting "petons,"—iron spikes to which they could attach their climbing rope, were they able to attain its summit.

Climbing from the site of the Canadian Alpine Club on Maligne Lake, they made the first ascent of three peaks of Mount Maligne, all over 10,000 feet in height, and mapped for the first time the tremendous ice fields surrounding it.

Dr. Strumia, who has climbed in Switzerland, France, Italy and North America, a total of 75 peaks and made 25 first ascents, said recently that during the trip just completed through Jasper Park he experienced some of the most difficult rock and snow work he has yet encountered. The party was outfitted by "Curly" Phillips.

CHAPTER XXIII.

If there had been any doubt that Wickfield would accept Doctor Howe's assistant, it was dispelled when he successfully removed Diana Moore's appendix.

"And no, wonder," the old doctor said to Grandma, a week after the operation. "There wasn't time to take the child to the hospital. There wasn't even time to get a nurse. No easy thing to perform an operation under such circumstances. I felt like cursing the deacon for his parsimony in not having had his house wired for electric lights; but I'll say for Luella that her lamp chimneys shone like nothin' before seen in heaven or on earth! And somehow, we did the job. The first week's past and no complications have arisen—except Edgar! He asked me tonight if they couldn't get along without the nurse we got from Portland the next morning."

"I presume that poor Luella will never hear the last of the expense," sighed Grandma, "but I shan't waste too much pity on her because she put her head into the noose with her eyes open. Well, Edward, it's a long time since I've seen you to have a talk. With a doctor right in the house I haven't bothered you when I had an ache or pain, but I'll even feel the same to any doctor that I do to you," she added lightly.

The old man smiled. "I'm only a habit, Polly," he reminded her. "You can trust John Carter, take my word for it. It's going to be easier leaving you all when my time comes, knowing you're in good hands. It was a fortunate day for me when I brought him here."

"And fortunate for us, too, Edward, I don't know how we'd manage without him," said the former nurse, who had been with her since she put her head into the noose with her eyes open. Well, Edward, it's a long time since I've seen you to have a talk. With a doctor right in the house I haven't bothered you when I had an ache or pain, but I'll even feel the same to any doctor that I do to you," she added lightly.

"I don't mind admitting to you, Polly, I'd rather know that you were down here keeping watch over Wickfield from this window, and making a home for that dear girl of ours. I'd hoped to see her settled before I go, with some good fellow to take care of her. I had a method in my madness when I sent John Carter to board here; but as far as I know my hopes have borne no fruit!"

"Perhaps you will," the doctor added, smiling, "but I hope not, Polly. I'd rather know that you were down here keeping watch over Wickfield from this window, and making a home for that dear girl of ours. I'd hoped to see her settled before I go, with some good fellow to take care of her. I had a method in my madness when I sent John Carter to board here; but as far as I know my hopes have borne no fruit!"

tened and laughed and sympathized. The young people did share their of the talking, too; and their audience was fully as sympathetic. Even a telephone call to South Wickfield, Doctor Howe, did not mar the party.

"At least," said Charman, "they let you finish supper!"

"And I'll go with you as chauffeur," declared John Carter, as the old man arose.

The doctor smiled happily at them all, and said: "I've had a beautiful time. Good-night, Polly."

He stooped, and with old-time gallantry kissed Grandma's hand, then turned to Charman and kissed her cheek.

"There are compensations for being over seventy," sighed John Carter, and they all laughed.

"Good-night," said the old doctor again as he reached the door. "Sweet dreams to both of you."

Afterwards they remembered that he had stood for an appreciable moment looking back into the room, as if to impress the scene upon his memory. And that night, his work done and his house in order, the old man crossed the River, so gently, so peacefully, that he did not even know he had embarked.

CHAPTER XXIV.

Grandma sat at the window, looking out at a strangely deserted Main Street—waiting.

All Wickfield, she thought, must be at the church, paying the last tribute of respect and love to its old physician. The bank was closed; and the schools, also. Charman had begged to stay at home so that her grandmother need not be alone at this time; and Lizzie Baker had done likewise, "tears straggling unnoticed down her cheeks as she implored: 'Please let me. You mustn't stay here by yourself.'"

Salina Knowles had said: "I'll stay with you, Grandma. The doctor wouldn't want you to be alone."

But Grandma, refusing all these kindly offers, had replied gently: "I'd rather be alone, if you don't mind. It's what I want."

Doubtfully, sorrowfully, they had turned away, to be reassured by a young doctor, who, even more than Charman, understood the old lady's mood.

"Don't you see," he explained at sight of their troubled faces, "I'll be easier for her with no one but her, not even as sad about it as we are. She knows that her old friend is not dead—he is 'just away.' Leave her alone."

So Grandma sat at the window, waiting. "It's the worst part of day that Edward always loved," she mused. "Spring's in the air, and summer's on the way. And he went just as he hoped he'd go. I remember he said only the other day, 'And may there be no sadness of farewell, when I embark.' He got what he deserved, a peaceful ending to a useful life."

What more could a body ask? . . . He's with his Kate, whom he loved and mourned for fifty years. . . . Maybe he's seen Father already, and told him how I sit by the window all day long watching the passing . . . and about Charman, and the neighbors.

For a moment she closed her eyes. Then the song of a bird in the elm tree broke the stillness, and she said softly: "The services must be 'most over now. . . . He told Mr. Merry once to make 'em short—for him. Just the Lord's prayer (he wanted

Canadian Women Score Again

Canadian Women Greatest Travellers
In the Summer Months

Another distinction has been marked up for the women of Canada. Last year a British artist publicly declared that in his opinion Canadian women were the most beautiful of their sex in the British Empire, and of course the women throughout the Dominion did not dispute what Canadians generally consider to be such an obvious fact. Now Canadian women are credited with being greater travellers than the mere men of their country—in summer. In one of the leading Canadian newspapers the following item recently appeared:—

"Canadian women are great travellers—in summer. When father is at home, tending to his work, mowing the lawn and keeping house alone, the wife and children go off to the seaside or the country and such movements constitute the bulk of the traffic."

One of the big railway systems of Canada turning a few days in two weeks' check on the sex of passengers in the height of summer travel. It was disclosed that eighty per cent. are females and twenty per cent. males. This disparity, however, does not exist all the year round. A similar check taken in winter disclosed about a fifty-fifty even break between the number of men and women travellers."

Canada Owe Much To Early Missionaries

Result Fathers Opened North America To Civilization
The ceremony of canonization at Rome must make a deep appeal to all Canadians who are familiar with the early history of this country, regardless of whether or not they are members of the church that thus honored its devoted sons. The eight Jesuit fathers who nearly three centuries after their heroic deaths have been canonized played a great role in the opening to civilization of the northern half of this continent. No one can have read pages of Parkman without holding their memories in reverence. The story of their exploits and of their martyrdom is one of the most moving in the whole range of human annals.

The example that they gave was followed by a large company of other "soldiers of the cross" who carried religion and all the influences that follow in its train further and further into the outlying parts of what is now the Dominion. Our debt to these pioneer missionaries is one that cannot be over-estimated.—Edmonton Journal.

Prince's Carpet Sold
A Scotch hand-woven wool carpet which covered the floor of Prince Charles Edward's bedroom at Culterden House, where he slept the night before the famous battle, brought only $150 at an auction sale in Glasgow, Scotland, recently. An ancient hall-port, measuring 15 inches across, which was said to have been used by the Highlanders on the field of Culloden, was eagerly bid up and went for $70.

"What did they teach you today in Sunday school?"
"I learned how to say, 'Yes, ma'am,' and 'No, sir,' when answering questions."
"Did you, indeed?"
"Yup."

They Like Canada

Earl and Countess of Stair Favorably Impressed With Dominion

Laughingly reminding reporters who met them on their arrival a month ago, the Earl and Countess of Stair were both very ready to give their impressions of Canada, when interviewed at Montreal just before sailing for home on the Canadian Pacific "Duchess of Richmond."

"You will remember," Lady Stair said, "that we were afraid you were going to ask our opinion of the Dominion on the day we landed, and then let us off when we promised to give that at the end of the visit."

Both were enthusiastic about the Dominion, which they visited from coast to coast during their month's stay. "What really appealed to us more than anything," Lord Stair remarked, "was the hospitality of Canadians. By George, they don't care what it is you want, they jolly well get it done for you."

"One of our principal interests during the visit was to see the conditions over which the cattle we shipped out here are herded. And I must say that I was disappointed to see so many Holsteins and so few Scottish cattle. The Aryabres we sent out to British Columbia last September are in remarkably fine shape."

During their visit to the coast, the Earl and Countess paid a visit to the Agricultural College at Vancouver, where they were shown prize-winning cattle also from their own Scottish estates.

In Memory Of Canadian Poet

Memorial Erected To Bliss Carman In Fredericton, N.B.

The house in Fredericton, N.B., where Bliss Carman, noted Canadian poet, was born, has been memorialized. A bronze tablet on the front of the house was recently unveiled. The inscription on the tablet reads:—

In this house Bliss Carman, Canadian bard and internationally loved poet, 1861-1929. This tablet is erected by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire in New Brunswick. Earth of my mother earth, spirit to thee."

It is the first memorial erected to Bliss Carman, who died in Connecticut, June 8, 1929, and whose remains were brought to his native home by the Government of New Brunswick and buried at Forest Hill Cemetery, Fredericton, where a suitable monument will mark his grave. It is proposed to erect a statue of this famous son of New Brunswick in the capital of his native province and the city where he spent his boyhood days.

Mysterious Fossil Bones

Many Queer Catches Made By North Sea Fishermen

The barnacled tusk of a mammoth found in the nest of a Grimsby trawler, is but the latest of many queer catches made by North Sea fishermen. Not a few of the fishermen's gardens along the Norfolk coast are ornamented with fossil bones of the cave bear, elk, ibex, rhinoceros, and mammoth, brought up at various times by the trawls, chiefly in certain regions about fifteen miles off Grimsby, sometimes called "the graveyards" or "the silver pits." Geologists suggest that the remains come from what was in prehistoric times the valley of the Rhine.

Work For Unemployed

It has been decided 40 men may now be employed there cutting away dead and burned wood.

AFTER EVERY MEAL

Little Helps For This Week

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."—1 Corinthians xv. 58.

Though scoffers ask where is your gain, And mocking say your work is vain, Such scoffers die and are forgot, Work done for God, it dieth not.

Press on! press on! no-doubt nor fear, From age to age this voice shall cheer:

What'er they may die and be forgot, Work done for God, it dieth not.

—Thomas Knox

When men do anything for God, the very least thing, they never know where it will end, nor what amount of work it will do for Him. Love's secret therefore is to be always doing things for God, and not to mind because they are very little ones.

—Frederick William Faber.
